Is Inflation Protection Really Protecting Investors?

By: Jason DesLauriers, CFA, Brian S. Ellis, CFA | November 24, 2021

Boston - Recent inflation numbers have continued to surprise investors and economists, coming in above the high end of projections. Even those who make their living forecasting economic conditions have consistently underestimated inflation pressures. No surprise, then, that investors who are looking to hedge against inflation in fixed income have turned to Treasury Inflation-Protection Securities (TIPS), with inflation-protected funds and ETFs showing record inflows this year.

The Net Zero Pledge: Building Trust and Market Power

By: John Streur, Reed Montague | November 24, 2021

Washington - We see the swift growth of the Net Zero Asset Managers initiative (Net Zero)* as sending a clear, important signal to markets that investors view climate change as a material risk. Companies failing to mitigate this risk adequately may ultimately lose favor with investors and face reduced access to public capital markets.

Does an Ethnically Diverse Board Mean Better Stock Performance?

By: Yijia Chen, CFA | November 17, 2021

Washington - Over the last 50 years, we have seen the key driver of the global economy shift from natural resources to human talent, ushering in the era of the "Talent Economy." This megatrend now impacts all major economies as companies place greater focus on intellectual capital and a diverse workforce as material, competitive factors for business success.

What to Make of Recent Volatility in the Muni Market?

By: Evan Rourke, CFA | October 20, 2021

New York - If you were paying attention to the municipal bond market in 2021, you may have observed a drop in yields (and a corresponding rally in prices) at the end of the second quarter that continued into the third quarter. Depending on maturity, Treasury yields reached quarterly lows on either August 3 or 4. From there yields rose again modestly, then picked up momentum following the Federal Open Market Committee meeting in September.
