

Coach's Corner

Our latest commentary to help you elevate the success of your practice

Disclosure

The views expressed in these posts are those of the authors and are current only through the date stated. These views are subject to change at any time based upon market or other conditions, and Eaton Vance disclaims any responsibility to update such views. These views may not be relied upon as investment advice and, because investment decisions for Eaton Vance are based on many factors, may not be relied upon as an indication of trading intent on behalf of any Eaton Vance fund. The discussion herein is general in nature and is provided for informational purposes only. There is no guarantee as to its accuracy or completeness. Past performance is no guarantee of future results.

After-Tax Advisor | Working with the Wealthy

Tax-Smart Strategies for Planned Giving

By: Holly Swan | June 12, 2023

Planned giving allows individuals and families to make charitable contributions while reducing their tax burden.

Imagine your charitably-inclined client Jen has a large concentrated position of employer stock. While diversification is of interest, she is concerned about the tax implications of a sale. Luckily, depending on Jen's priorities, there are several tax-smart strategies that can help her address a concentrated position while funding her philanthropic endeavors.

Strategy 1: Maximizing Income Tax Benefits by Giving Securities Instead of Cash

A key benefit of charitable giving is managing tax consequences. Consider asking, "Are you aware of the benefits of funding your charitable giving with appreciated stock instead of cash?" Jen's answer will help you understand the role that tax management plays in her charitable giving. If Jen sells the stock outright, she will most likely pay federal long-term capital gains tax plus any applicable state and local taxes. Then, if she gives the after-tax proceeds from the sale to charity, her federal income tax deduction would be based on the amount left after paying taxes. If instead, Jen contributes the stock directly to a qualified charity or planned giving vehicle, no federal capital gains taxes are due on the contribution. She may also be eligible to receive a charitable income tax deduction for the full fair market value of the gift, not to exceed 30% of her adjusted gross income.

Strategy 2: Establishing a Legacy of Giving

Perhaps Jen feels strongly about establishing a legacy of giving within her family. Find out by asking, "How important is it to instill your philanthropic values across the younger generations of your family?"

If it is a priority, funding a donor-advised fund (DAF) via a contribution of long-term appreciated securities can help Jen avoid the recognition of capital gains taxes, deduct the full fair market value of the stock (not to exceed IRS limitations) and ensure her charitable legacy continues for generations to come.

Strategy 3: Generating an Income Stream and Maximizing Charitable Impact

If Jen is wary of contributing the appreciated stock to charity because she may need access to the income later in life, alleviate her concerns by asking, "Did you know that there are ways to benefit your charity of choice while generating an income interest through your lifetime?"

A split-interest giving vehicle, such as a charitable remainder trust or a pooled income fund, can help generate a lifetime income stream for herself or her beneficiaries, and ultimately pass the remaining assets to charity. If established early in life, split-interest giving can help provide financial security to the donor or their beneficiaries and exponentially increase the payout for the charity.

Bottom Line: By understanding your clients' priorities around their charitable impact, legacy and taxes, you can help identify a tax-smart giving strategy that aligns with their philanthropic and financial goals.

The Firm does not provide tax advice. The tax information contained herein is general and is not exhaustive in nature. Tax laws are complex and subject to change. Investors should always consult their own legal or tax professional for information concerning their individual situation.

Related Content

RELATED RESOURCE: Ways to Give

Holly Swan
Executive Director
Advisor Institute

"Planned giving allows individuals and families to make charitable contributions while reducing their tax burden."

To report a website vulnerability, please go to Responsible Disclosure.

Eaton Vance is part of Morgan Stanley Investment Management, the asset management division of Morgan Stanley.

For USA PATRIOT Act Disclosure Notice please click here.

 This image indicates content designed specifically for Financial Advisors / Investment Professionals. This material is not to be used with the public.

Before investing in any Eaton Vance, Calvert or Morgan Stanley Investment Management Inc.-advised fund, prospective investors should consider carefully the investment objective(s), risks, and charges and expenses. Read the prospectus carefully before you invest or send money. For open-end mutual funds, the current prospectus contains this and other information. To obtain an open-end mutual fund prospectus or summary prospectus and the most recent annual and semiannual shareholder reports, contact your financial advisor or download a copy here. For closed-end funds, you should contact your financial advisor. To obtain the most recent annual and semi-annual shareholder report for a closed-end fund contact your financial advisor or download a copy here. To obtain an exchange-traded fund, ("ETF") prospectus or summary prospectus, contact your financial advisor or download a copy here.

Before purchasing any variable product, consider the objectives, risks, charges, and expenses associated with the underlying investment option(s) and those of the product itself. For a prospectus containing this and other information, contact your investment or insurance professional. Read the prospectus carefully before investing.

NOT FDIC INSURED | OFFER NO BANK GUARANTEE | MAY LOSE VALUE | NOT INSURED BY ANY FEDERAL GOVERNMENT AGENCY | NOT A DEPOSIT

Eaton Vance does not provide tax or legal advice. Prospective investors should consult with a tax or legal advisor before making any investment decision. The information on this Web page is for U.S. residents only and does not constitute an offer to sell, or a solicitation of an offer to purchase, securities in any jurisdiction to any person to whom it is not lawful to make such an offer.

© Eaton Vance Management. All rights reserved.

Eaton Vance open-end mutual funds are offered through Eaton Vance Distributors, Inc. One Post Office Square, Boston, MA 02110. Member FINRA / SIPC. Exchange-traded funds are distributed by Foreside Fund Services, LLC.