Heirs of high earners must wrangle new tax laws, as massive generational wealth transfer looms

August 26, 2024

Bracing for the largest generational wealth transfer, the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) has raised the age at which workers must begin withdrawing funds from their qualified retirement accounts. The final rules (TD 10001; RIN:1545-BP82), released last month, amend the SECURE Act 2.0 permitting account holders to maintain 401(k), 403(b) and individual retirement account savings beyond the previous age limit of 70½ while eschewing hefty excise taxes punishing late withdrawal of those assets. The IRS also finalized new rules for non-spouse beneficiaries who inherit from original depositors who died in 2020 or later.

By: Global Opportunity | August 23, 2024

Recent market volatility, driven by macroeconomic and geopolitical uncertainty, has raised questions about the near-term prospects for equity returns. Will the sell-off be short-lived? Or rather, accelerate into a market correction?

Year of \(non\) elections

By: Emerging Markets Debt | August 21, 2024

Boston - Coming into the year, all eyes were on countries with elections including India and Taiwan in Asia. But the surprise has been political change in countries without elections. Sheikh Hasina was forced out as PM of Bangladesh by protesters and fled to India. Vietnam's former Minister of Public Security was able to attain both the Secretary General position and Presidency after a series of maneuverings. Thailand's Prime Minister was removed by a Constitutional Court ruling. What do these episodes say about the pitfalls of weakening economic institutions in emerging markets?
