2022 Outlook: Global Environment Favors Quality Stocks in Non-U.S. Markets

London - The increase in market volatility, driven by the Omicron variant, is yet another reminder that navigating global equity markets is likely to remain challenging in 2022. We believe, however, that higher-quality companies,¹ particularly those in international markets, may offer active managers attractive stock selection opportunities.

London - On balance, our outlook for international equities is optimistic for the rest of the year. Europe is now catching up on the vaccination front and the U.K. is preparing to lift all COVID-19 restrictions over the next few weeks. Japan, which has been a notable vaccination laggard, is aggressively ramping up its efforts to control spread of the virus, most recently closing the summer Olympics to spectators.
