John Streur is president and chief executive officer for Calvert Research and Management, a wholly owned subsidiary of Eaton Vance Management specializing in responsible and sustainable investing across global capital markets.

John is also president and a trustee of the Calvert Funds as well as a director of Calvert Impact Capital and member of its Risk Management Committee. He guided the creation of the Calvert Principles for Responsible Investment, the Calvert Research System and the Calvert Indices, and has placed focus on investment research and emphasis on environmental, social and governance (ESG) factors integrated with investment decisions. He joined Calvert Research and Management in 2016.

John began his career in the investment management industry in 1987. Before joining Calvert Research and Management, he was president and chief executive officer with Calvert Investments. He has managed socially responsible investments at the request of institutional clients, including public funds, religious institutions, and college and university endowments since 1991. Previously, he was president, director and principal of Portfolio 21, a boutique firm specializing in global environmental investing, and spent 20 years at AMG Funds (and its predecessors), a firm he co-founded and where he served as president, CEO and chair of the Investment Committee.

John is a Founding Member of the Investor Advisory Group of the Sustainability Accounting Standards Board and serves as a director on the board of the Environmental Media Association, whose mission it is to motivate the entertainment industry to educate the public about environmental issues and sustainability through all forms of media. He is a member of the FMC Corporation Sustainability Advisory Council.

John earned a B.S. from the University of Wisconsin, College of Agriculture and Life Sciences.

"We know more investors want to invest with purpose and meaning, to achieve something important in addition to financial return. Calvert has the research, record and strength to help them succeed."

ESG and the corporate response to COVID-19

May 5, 2020

Washington - The COVID-19 pandemic is creating crises on many fronts, with deep and far-reaching implications. As of today, we have seen a wide range of responses across governments and corporations that have worked to either instill or diminish confidence and trust. Calvert Research and Management is studying companies carefully to evaluate their actions relative to what their corporate policies and statements have led us to expect.

Considering ESG indicators even more critical

April 22, 2020

With the world coping with a pandemic unprecedented in our lifetimes, it is important to take time on this 50th anniversary of the original Earth Day to explore what this crisis can tell us about our need and ability to protect the planet and ourselves. In this two-part series, we examine what we can learn as individuals and as investors.
